CBCS (BACHELOR OF ARTS) IN SOCIOLOGY

SYLLABUS OF CHOICE BASED CREDIT SYSTEM 2023

A. OBJECTIVES OF THE COURSE

The National Education Policy (NEP)-2020 is in force whose one of the fundamental principles are a “substantial investment in a strong, vibrant public education system as well as the encouragement and facilitation of true philanthropic private and community participation. The policy also mentions “peer tutoring” as voluntary activity for local communities where literate members of the community could commit to teaching other members of community. The vision given in the NEP for Higher Education Institutions (HEI) is that of a multidisciplinary institution of higher learning that offers undergraduate and graduate programs with high quality teaching, research and community engagement. Towards the attainment of holistic and multidisciplinary education the flexible and innovative curricula of HEIs shall include credit-based courses and projects in the area of community engagement and service, environment education and value- based education. Sociology being a key subject studying not only Society, Culture and Theory is now correlated interdisciplinary with economics, political Science, psychology, history, etc. Now the world has become complex and new concepts, problems and issues are arising that needs to make the subject update with time. On this background the proposed undergraduate course in Sociology is tried to design with departing basic knowledge in the subject with concepts, theories, political systems, thoughts etc as well as international relations, research methodology. Entire course scheme correlates basic knowledge of course, skill based programs (Online), Applied and Advanced courses with choices under professional electives, Advance/Creative type courses and Project Work and Internship. Sociology as one of the most dynamic disciplines is primarily involved in the study of society and the social structure characterizing society. Conventionally the interest of sociology has been on knowing the intricacies of the older institutions such as family, marriage, kinship, religion and many other aspects such as group, culture, norms, values, education, stratification, etc., gaining momentum in the process of building up of a society. The focus in sociology has always been on understanding the web of social relationship and interaction which go into making the society a stronger social fabric. The theories claiming an overriding influence in sociology till the recent past have been mainly of structural-functional and conflict perspective and said to characterize the mainstream society. The structural-functional and conflict theories as a part of the mainstream society operate as the two extremes opposing each other on the basis of their respective laws of operation which mostly remain fixed or unchanged in their own right. But sociology today does not seem to remain confined to the fixed boundaries determined by the laws of structural-functionalism and social conflict. The subject has now acquired enormous flexibility and thus entered into the realms of other social sciences. It has in general assumed an interdisciplinary character. Some of the early areas of interest now either have started losing their importance or giving way to the new thrust areas of study. The prevailing scenario at the global level makes the subject oblivious of one dominant culture, order, system of values, ideas and thought. Sociology at present engages itself in focusing more on the emerging trends of multiculturalism, post-structuralism, post-modernism, hyper-modernity and globalization. The theory at present emerges to be increasingly characterized as synthetic or integrative rather than deterministic. The trend now accommodates more of a soft approach and avoids as much of a hard core approach as it can. The proposed semester pattern syllabus in sociology at the undergraduate level has been planned keeping in mind the growing acceptance for the new trends, facts of life and orientations within the domain of sociology as a science of society. The learners of sociology, the students and teachers, now will have ample scope to know and understand the subject in a broad perspective.
